REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

Examiner acknowledges a submission of the amendment and arguments filed on March 10, 2004. Claims 1 - 7, and 13 - 18 are deleted; Claims 8 - 12, and 19 are amended. Amendment and arguments have overcome rejections under 103(a).

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

An amended independent Claim 8 discloses an electrostatic chucking device manufacturing method, inter alia, including four steps of superposing a metal foil, thermoplastic polyamide base adhesive film and polyamide film, performing a low temperature compression bonding under pressure, superposing an electrostatic chucking sheet on a metal substrate by a thermoplastic polyamide-based adhesive film, and performing a low-temperature bonding under pressure. The claim includes some other details of the materials and the process. The closest references for the claim are Arasawa et al. and Chen et al.

Arasawa et al. discloses some of the claim including elements such as a laminated structure electrostatic chuck being formed by a first and a second insulation layers, a electrode layer and a second insulation layer on a metal substrate, wherein the insulation layers are made of polyamide films. However, it does not disclose the adhesion performed by thermoplastic polyamide based film.

Chen et al. discloses at least one adhesive layer located between the metal substrate and the first insulation layer made by using thermoplastic polyamide based film.

However, none of the references discloses details of manufacturing process, such as sequential lamination with repeated use of the low-temperature bonding under pressure.

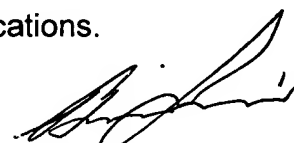

These limitations are recited in all other independent claims 10 – 12 and 19, thus making the case allowable.

Allowability resides, at least in part, in the above-described limitations, which has not been disclosed in the Prior Art in a search.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
